

In South Carolina, minorities make up 35% of the population, and own about 10% of small businesses. South Carolina Community Loan Fund's Local Entrepreneur Acceleration Program (LEAP) aims to support diversity in small business ownership across South Carolina by providing minority and women entrepreneurs with business plan development support, technical skills, and the chance to compete for a $10,000 capital award.

All LEAP graduates leave the program with the improved capacity to seek business financing based on their refined business plan, broadened professional network, and an expanded professional management skillset.
